Introduction

Welcome Special Guardians of Milton Keynes.

This information pack is designed for Special Guardians and their families who live in or who have been assessed by Milton Keynes City Council.

Special Guardians and their families can access post-order support via Milton Keynes City Council if:

- The Special Guardianship Order was granted via Milton Keynes City Council and the court, or
- The order was made by another Local Authority, but you live in Milton Keynes and it has been three years since the order was granted.
- Your child was 'looked after' by Milton Keynes City Council prior to the Special Guardianship order being made.

This booklet will provide information that you need in relation to your responsibilities as a Special Guardian, what Milton Keynes City Council offer under the umbrella of Special Guardianship Support and what generic support you can access locally.

What is a Special Guardianship Order?

A Special Guardianship Order, often known as an SGO, is a legal order made by a Family Court where a carer – usually a relative- is appointed as the ‘Special Guardian’ of the child until they turn 18 years old.

Special Guardianship falls under the category of Kinship Care, also known as Connected Persons Care, which is the idea of keeping children within their family when they cannot be cared for by birth parents.

The SGO was created with the intention of meeting the needs of children who have been separated from their birth parents, it can be a great option for children who are unable to live with their parents as it secures permanence for them whilst maintaining their links with their birth family.

Special Guardian’s share parental responsibility with the child’s parents, however, special guardians are able to make all the decisions relating to the child’s day to day life without consulting the birth parents.

Statistics about Special Guardians in England

(Department of Education, year ending March 2021)

- Between March 2020 and March 2021, 3800 SGOs were granted in England. This is a 2% increase from the previous year.
- Approximately 1 in 7 children who left care were placed on SGOs.
- 88% of SGOs were granted to relatives and friends, the remainder were granted to former foster carers of the children.
- The number of looked after children who were adopted fell by 18% in 2021, this is likely due to the impact of the pandemic on the progression of court cases.
- The average age of children at the time that the SGO was granted is 6 years and 1 month.

Your Role as a Special Guardian

What is Parental Responsibility?

All parents have legal rights and responsibilities, known as 'parental responsibility'. A parent will always retain parental responsibility for their child, the only circumstance where this is completely severed is if the child is legally adopted.

When a Special Guardianship Order is granted, the appointed carer is also granted parental responsibility for the child – which they share with the parent. The Special Guardian has the overarching parental responsibility, which means that they can make nearly all of the major decisions about a child's life and day-to-day care – without having to consult or inform their birth parents.

There are certain situations when Special Guardians are required to obtain permission from the child's birth parents, which include:

- Taking the child out of the country for longer than three months.
- Changing the child's surname.
- Changing the child's religion.
- Situations where consent from everyone with parental responsibility is required by law, such as certain medical procedures.
- Placing the child up for adoption.

Understanding Your Role as a Special Guardian

It can be confusing to understand your role as a Special Guardian and what you are and aren't permitted to do.

Therapeutic Support

Many children who live with Special Guardians have had a very difficult start in life, some children may have witnessed or suffered abuse or neglect, even children removed from the care of their parents at birth may have suffered stress in the womb.

These children are often greatly affected by their past experiences. Trauma has a significant impact on the body and the brain, which may lead to children developing difficulties and complex needs. This can therefore impact the child's behaviour and their feelings about themselves and about the world.

It is important that Special Guardians understand the impact of trauma and past experiences and how this can manifest in children's behaviour. Special Guardians can access a variety of resources to support their child's wellbeing in order to develop the necessary skills to support the child.

Training

You can access fantastic online, virtual and face-to-face training through:

There are lots of courses to explore which cover a variety of subjects.

As a starting point, we recommend:

- Attachment and Child Development
- Emotion Coaching
- Building Resilience
- Caring for Traumatized Children

There are also courses that cover specific issues that may be relevant to your family, including:

- Managing Challenging Behaviours
- Understanding Additional Needs (ADHD, ASD, and mental health issues)
- Managing Contact with Birth Family

We also have a collection of YouTube video links ready to send to you, which provide quick and easy-to-understand explanations of attachment, child development, and the impact of trauma.

There are also some interesting seminars and learning events that we can signpost you to.

If any of these courses interest you or you are keen to learn something new, please contact the service and we will enroll you.

Training can be helpful to understand the theories behind attachment and child development, and help you better understand how a child's early experiences can impact on their physical behaviour, mental health and emotional wellbeing as they grow and develop. It's also important to continue to learn about what children need and what you can do to support them as they develop.

Adoption Support Fund

The Adoption Support Fund (ASF) was established in April 2016 to fund support and therapeutic interventions for eligible families.

The ASF has agreed to continue to fund support for families up to March 2025.

Is your family eligible for support?

If the child that you are caring for was looked after (in care) prior to the SGO being made, then they are entitled to the funding.

The ASF is available for children and young people up to and including the age of 21 (or 25 if they have an Education, Health and Care Plan).

How much funding is available?

The ASF has two fair access limits:

- £2,500 per child per year for specialist assessments
- £5,000 per child per year for therapeutic interventions

What can we access?

The funding can be used for the following interventions for your family:

- Specialist Assessments to explore the child's trauma and attachment needs. This will then recommend potential therapies for the child and family moving forward.

Unfortunately, standalone assessments for single conditions, i.e. ADHD, ASD, FASD, are out of scope for the fund so you will need to follow the normal referral route through the NHS for those. You will need to make an appointment with the child's GP to request an assessment via a paediatrician or CAMHS specialist in this instance.

Therapy for your Child:

- Creative Therapies, including art, dance, drama, music, lego, mindful yoga.
- Play Therapies, including theraplay, filial therapy, and attachment play.
- Life Story Work
- Psychotherapy (Talking Therapy) including cognitive behavioural therapy, educational psychotherapy, eye movement desensitisation and reprocessing therapy, sensory processing and attachment therapies.
- Therapeutic Short Breaks

Support for your Family:

- Parent Training Courses, including Therapeutic Reparenting.
- Family Therapies, including Dyadic Developmental Psychotherapy and child to parent violence programmes.

The funding being applied for should help you and your child to achieve the following positive outcomes:

- Improved strategies to support your child's wellbeing, to regulate their emotions and to manage their behaviour

- Improved understanding of your child's behaviour and needs
- Improved attachment, relationship and communication between you and your child
- Improved relationships between your child and their peers, family members, teachers and school staff
- Improved emotional regulation and behaviour management
- Improved understanding and processing of their life story and family relationships
- Improved engagement with learning
- Improved confidence and ability to enjoy a positive family life and social relationships

How do you apply?

The Local Authority will apply to the ASF on your behalf.

- 1) Contact the Post-SGO Support Service to request an 'assessment of need'.
- 2) You will be allocated a Worker from Post SGO service to complete the assessment, and they will recommend what support your family may need.
- 3) If a specialist assessment or therapeutic support is required, your Support Worker will make an application to the ASF on your behalf.
- 4) The ASF have a timescale to review any applications, which takes at least 20 working days. If the ASF have any questions about the application, the timescale starts again.
- 5) If the ASF approve the funding, they will make contact with the local authority and the chosen provider and the funds will be released.
- 6) The provider will contact your family to start the process.
- 7) Once the specialist assessment or therapy has ended, a review meeting will be held between the provider, Special Guardians, and your Post-SGO Support Worker to discuss next steps. If further therapeutic intervention is required, additional applications can be made.

If your child or family require additional therapeutic services but you have reached the maximum funding limit from the ASF, you will need to wait for the next financial year for funds to be available.

Support for your Family

Clinical Supervision

Milton Keynes City Council commission Clinical Psychologists to support those who care for children under Special Guardianship Orders or through fostering.

We know that caring for children who have been hurt can be a tiring, troubling and even confusing experience. Everyone deserves extra support from time to time, or perhaps on a regular basis.

Clinical Supervision is a confidential, supportive, and non-judgmental service, designed to give you the opportunity to talk to and exchange ideas with an attachment expert.

The agenda is set by you – you can talk about specific issues that are affecting you and your family, work through new ideas and approaches to take with managing behaviours or talk about your own general wellbeing and coping strategies.

Please let us know if you would like to book an appointment – these are booked on a first come, first serve, basis.

Family and Friends Carers - Kinship Support Group

Being a Special Guardian can sometimes feel lonely and isolating, it can feel like you are living in a different world that nobody else understands. It can be helpful to meet people who are in a similar situation to you and who truly understand what life is like as a Special Guardian.

Karon Jennings, who has been a Special Guardian herself, runs a Support Group for all Family and Friends Carers. There's no need to book, just pop in and chat.

The group meet every Thursday (during term-time only) from 09:30am to 11:30am in the Community Room at Morrisons @ the Westcroft District Centre. There is also an evening Zoom meeting on the 3rd Thursday of each month.

Please email Karon at kinshipmk@outlook.com or grandparent.sg@ntlworld.com for information about the group or for support about being a Kinship Carer/Special Guardian.

"The people I met were so lovely & made me feel very welcome." "It's great to meet other people in the same situation." "I think the group is great." "Finding the group made me feel stronger in being able to cope." "I don't feel so isolated." "Makes me feel as if I have some support."

Networking and Events

Having a good support network is crucial as a Special Guardian. Our aim is to create a community for all of the fantastic grandparents, aunts and uncles, cousins, family friends, and other relatives who are working hard to support the children that they are raising.

We hope to run annual events for Special Guardians and Kinship Carers, to give you the opportunity to meet and make connections with people who are in similar situations to you.

Kinship Care Week is an annual celebration for us to raise awareness of the important role and challenges that Special Guardians and Kinship Carers face. The week is usually celebrated in October.

The Post-SGO Support Service will send information out to carers about any events that we are holding.

Newsletter

The Post-SGO Support Service are committed to sending out a quarterly newsletter to Special Guardians – SG News.

We want to keep you up to date with everything that's happening in Milton Keynes and in the world of Special Guardianship, and to offer you support. The newsletter will feature any upcoming events, useful information and updates about Milton Keynes City Council and Special Guardianship across the country, and details of fantastic resources that we recommend to Special Guardians for you to use with the children in your care.

'Drop-In' Sessions

We run regular drop-in sessions for Special Guardians as sometimes it's easier to talk face-to-face than over the phone.

This is a space for you to chat to our Support Workers – you can get to know us, ask us any questions that you may have, and learn more about what we offer as a service. There will also be other Special Guardians present for you to talk to Join us at Pebbles Children's Centre.

Family Time with Birth Family or Extended Family

Family time between children and their birth parents or extended family members can be difficult to manage, due to the complex relationships within families.

It's important to encourage family time between children and their birth family if it is safe and appropriate to do so, as it supports their identity, promotes their understanding of their life story, and helps them to maintain links with their birth family.

Family Time Arrangements

Family time between children and their birth family is usually set as part of the SGO Support Plan, this is usually a 'minimum' level of family time which is decided based on the child's best interest, the needs of your family and what you will be able to manage.

There are different kinds of family time;

- Direct family time which is face-to-face
- Indirect family time which can be telephone calls, video calls and/or letterbox.

Family time can also be supervised or unsupervised, as well as held in the community, at home, or in a family time centre. Some carers are managing daily family time, weekly, monthly, or yearly. A minimum level is set out in the SGO support plan which is court directed. Anything over and above this can be decided by Special Guardians.

Family time set out early in the placement is based on that moment in time, however family circumstances and the wishes and feelings of children can change over time as they grow older. It's important to keep an open mind about family time and review the arrangements where necessary which Post SGO service can help and support with.

Child Arrangements Orders (Contact) are set by the court to enforce family time, this determines who the child who have family time with, the frequency and duration of this. Anyone can make an application to the courts to request a Child Arrangements Order. The purpose of the court is to decide whether the child should have regular family time with the person requesting it, and the arrangements around this including frequency of family time, location, and whether this is supervised/unsupervised.

Advice about Managing Family Time

Lots of Special Guardians family time the Post-SGO Support Service seeking advice about managing family time, which could be due to the following issues:

- Birth Parents would like more family time with the children
- The children don't want to have family time with specific people
- The Special Guardians feel unable to manage or supervise family time
- The current arrangements aren't working for either or both party
- An incident happened during family time that worried someone

If you do have concerns about family time, please contact our service who can offer you advice on managing family time and can signpost you to other agencies who may be able to help.

Special Guardians are also able to access training around managing family time with family members.

Legal Advice

It can often be useful to seek legal advice in relation to family time, especially if there are difficulties surrounding this, for example it may be that the birth parents are requesting more family time with the child however you may not feel it is in the child best interests.

The Post SGO service can signpost you to a list of family law solicitors in Milton Keynes, should you need one.

Alternatively, you can search for a solicitor:

- Kinship provides a list of solicitors on their website: <https://kinship.org.uk/for-kinship-carers/get-more-support/lawyers-list/>
- The Law Society provide a list of solicitors on their website: www.lawsociety.org.uk and selecting the “choosing and using” option at the top of the page followed by “find a solicitor”.

Please contact our service to discuss any requests for funding towards legal advice.

Mediation

Sometimes relationships between family members can become strained, especially if you disagree about something related to a child. If you feel that the issues that cannot be resolved within your family, you may wish to explore mediation to support you to talk through the issues and come to a mutual resolution – it’s important that everyone is on the same page and that all decisions are made in the best interests of the child.

Family Mediation is a process where a mediator supports you to work out arrangements about a child, they are there to help you work through disagreements and find solutions that work for both parties.

How does mediation work?

A trained independent mediator will complete a Mediation Information and Assessment Meeting (known as a MIAM) with both parties, to find out more about your situation and assess whether mediation is an appropriate option based on your circumstances.

In mediation, you can still come to a resolution without being in the same room or space with the other person – the mediator can work through the disagreement without you being in direct contact.

RelateMK, Mediation MK, and Mediation1st are mediation agencies who can support with family conflict. The Family Mediation Council (www.familymediationcouncil.org.uk) and National Family Mediation Service (www.nfm.org.uk) are useful organisations to contact for advice.

Can I get financial support with mediation?

The Ministry of Justice are running a time-limited Family Mediation Voucher Scheme to support families to resolve their family law disputes outside of court. If you are eligible, you could receive a financial contribution of up to £500 towards the costs of mediation. Find out more at: <https://www.gov.uk/guidance/family-mediation-voucher-scheme>

Education

Pupil Premium Plus Funding

Previously Looked After children are eligible for Pupil Premium Plus, which is funding paid directly to state schools to support children emotionally, socially and educationally. For each child, the school is paid £1385 per year. You must inform the school that the child is subject to a Special Guardianship Order in order to receive this funding.

Schools have flexibility on how the money is spent. You can ask your child's school what the funding is being used for, or for their Pupil Premium Strategy (which should be published on the school website) and how this supports your child. The funding cannot always be used to support children individually, sometimes, schools collate the funding for all eligible pupils together to commission a service to support a group of students.

The funding can be used for:

- Extra one-to-one or small-group support for children within the classroom.
- Employing extra teaching assistants to work with classes.
- Running catch-up sessions before or after school, for example for children who need extra help with maths or literacy.
- Running a school breakfast club or after school clubs to improve attendance.
- Providing extra tuition for able children.
- Providing music lessons for children whose families would be unable to pay for them.
- Funding educational trips and visits.
- Paying for additional help such as speech and language therapy or family therapy.
- Funding English classes for children who speak another language at home.
- Investing in resources that boost children's learning, such as laptops or tablets.

School Placements

Previously Looked After children qualify for priority admissions into school. Please speak to your child's school in the first instance and make sure you include this on your school admissions form.

Special Educational Needs

If you are concerned that your child may have Special Educational Needs (SEN) then you should speak to your child's school in the first instance.

We also encourage you to contact from the Milton Keynes SEND Information and Advice Service (MKSENDIAS) – www.mksendias.org.uk – who can advise you on the processes for getting your child support within school, such as applying for an Education and Health Care Plan.

Every child is entitled to an Individual Education Plan, which you can request from your child's school. This helps teaching staff to plan for and support your child, including strategies to help them learn and thrive.

Financial Support

Special Guardianship Allowance

Milton Keynes City Council conducts annual financial assessments for Special Guardians. Eligibility for a Special Guardianship allowance is determined as part of a means-tested assessment, this means that we will assess the income that you have coming in when calculating any financial allowance. This is in line with the Special Guardianship Regulations, 2005.

Special Guardianship allowances are aligned with fostering allowances.

Allowances are subject to annual review, we will write to you each year to ask if your circumstances have changed. You will need to respond if requested to do so, even if there have been no changes, to avoid any allowance that you currently receive being stopped.

If you are in receipt of full Universal Credit (i.e. not working) we will not means test and you will be provided with the full allowance and no child benefit will be deducted.

If your circumstances change you must inform us immediately.

Please note that any Special Guardianship Allowance is ignored as income when calculating your entitlement to other means-tested benefits and tax credits.

Additional financial support will only be considered in certain circumstances and following an assessment for Special Guardianship support.

If you have any queries surrounding your financial assessment of Special Guardian allowance, please email the Post-SGO Support Service and the Finance Officer will endeavor to respond to you as soon as possible (please do not call the Post-SGO Helpline as we will not have access to the same information).

General Support

As a Special Guardian, you have the same right to benefits and tax credits as a birth parent would.

We recommend that you contact your local Citizens Advice Bureau in the first instance, they can help you to consider what support your family may be entitled to -

You can also check your entitlement to income support by using the Turn2Us benefits calculator: <https://benefits-calculator.turn2us.org.uk/>
