

Ordnance Survey Location Plans for Planning Applications

From October 2007 the Ordnance Survey changed the terms of their licence agreement. This has affected local authorities throughout the UK and means we can no longer provide Ordnance Survey mapping products directly from our own system to members of the public. To continue to provide a service we have started an online partnership with a company called GetMapping. This can be accessed via the Council web site. In addition, there is a local outlet selling Ordnance Survey map extracts as well as a variety of independent online retailers. Details of these can be found below.
