Worries About the Future

A Story for Primary

As we grow older, we notice things around us experience changes.

I am growing taller and bigger.

Every September, students change classes and move to a new year group.

Sometimes I think about this and get a bit worried.

But change is a part of life. We can never stop change. Things never stay exactly the same. That may be sad at times, but it is also a good thing.

If things never changed, we wouldn't experience new things – like holidays, new films or exciting new games.

Try to see change as a new adventure. It will happen anyway, so try to learn to enjoy the future.

Say to yourself, "Things may change, but I will be fine!"
Relax and enjoy your new future – everything will be fine!
