

Q3.35

The plan has a duty to exploit existing infrastructure assets in preference to building costly one-off items such as bridges over the M1 to reach remotely located settlements. The existing grid infrastructure provides such assets which simply need extending rather than complete reengineering. Development should have this in mind rather than including remote sites requiring excessive infrastructure costs to implement. Remove development to the East.