

Access Protection Markings (APMs)

What are Access Protection Markings?

Access Protection Markings (APM's) are white 'H' shaped lines painted onto the road. They are used to show other road users that access to a property is required and are particularly useful where visibility is limited.

They are not legally enforceable but advisory therefore our parking enforcement officers are unable to ticket any vehicle.

Although they have no legal status, it is an offence to deliberately cause an obstruction by parking across a vehicle access. If a vehicle blocks a driveway the resident can contact the police on the non-emergency number 101.

An Access Protection Marking is covered under the Traffic Signs Regulations and General Directions 2002 diagram no. 1026.1

How much do they cost?

It costs £223 per application which covers both the application process and cost associated with the markings being installed. You must complete an application form and the fees be paid in full before the application will be processed.

The cost is based on a standard marking up to 5 metres in length. Additional costs will apply where longer protection.

If your markings become faded and you want to refresh them, you will need to make a new application and pay the fee again.

Please note

Charges are non-refundable and still apply if your application is not successful, so please read the eligibility criteria before applying.

When will markings be installed?

Within 8 weeks after your payment being received, your markings will be installed. We will schedule these works in along with our routine road lining works.

If your markings become faded and you want the lines re-painting you will need to make another application and the same fee will apply.

What is the application criteria for APMs?

Access Protection Markings will not prevent inconsiderate parking and they are not legally enforceable.

You should only apply if:

- The access is not obvious to drivers e.g. a concealed entrance
- There is a proven problem of continuous obstruction

If you feel that your situation meets both these conditions and you can provide evidence of this such as images that are dated, then you should complete the online form.

Each application will be considered based on its merits and specific location. APMs will only be considered where there is:

- a legal dropped kerb at the property access
- no existing waiting restrictions (yellow lines).
- no conflict in parking needs, such as near to schools or shops
- supporting evidence of previous obstruction

We will make a final discretionary decision based on the factors above, and site observations.
